THE EDISON RECITAL

Is a Matter Still Being Talked About in Barre.

The music lovers of Barre who availed themselves of the invitation to attend the concert by Claire Lillian Peteler and Sibyl Sanderson Fagan in the Barre opera house last Wednesday evening will never forget the experience.

When Mr. Humphrey, the master of ceremonies, announced that Miss Peteler would sing in unison with a re-creation of her own voice on the platform, Miss Peteler's voice and the voice from the mahogany cabinet beside her came to us indistinguishably blended—the two voices so completely one that no ear could detect their duality. Suddenly we realized that Miss Peteler's lips had ceased to move, though her voice went gloriously on! She sang again, and again stopped. Only by watching her lips could we tell whether her voice came to us from her throat or from the magic box at her side. It was her voice in both instances—there was no question of that. No mere echo or "record" could make us doubt the evidence of our eyes.

Her voice was there, whether she sang or was silent. Equal in tone, in clearness and in beauty, it filled the room, literally re-created by some magic power for our bewilderment.

Other vocal numbers were re-created with equal fidelity. Interspersed among these rare musical treats were delightful selections by Miss Peteler and Miss Fagan, always accompanied by their identical performances on the new Edison. And each time we witnessed the miracle the wonder grew—wonder at the wizard mind that could, with a man-made instrument, rival nature's production of music—adv.

MONTPELIER

The weights and measures department is investigating a complaint made by a resident of Montpelier about short weight in coal. The coal bin has been measured and as far as the investigation has been conducted it looks as though the resident's claim of short weight was correct. Recently a complaint was made about short measures in the delivery of apples. The person selling the apples made good the measure upon the statement to him from the department relative to the matter. However, a complaint has been made to the city grand juror about the matter.

The farm-for-sale book, which the last session of the legislature authorized the commissioner of agriculture to print and distribute, has been completed and is being distributed. This book contains a list of the farms which the owners want to sell, with a somewhat brief statement setting forth the best advantages of the farms. Considerable objection was raised to the book during the process of legislation on the grounds that there would not be sufficient return from it to warrant the expense of publication, so that the critics of the book are watching the outcome with considerable interest.

Another chapter in the Gallagher city of Montpelier street trouble was written Monday, when Mr. Gallagher, who lives on Hillside avenue, tried to stop the street department from working the road so that teams can get to the houses on that street to deliver coal. It is the contention of the street department that Mr. Gallagher has filled a portion of the road so that it is impossible for teams to drive on the street. The police were called to the place and the men of the street department worked under their protection.

Gallagher told Officer McAvoy that if a coal team tried to come up there to deliver coal that blood would be spilled and Officer McAvoy assured the man that he had stopped the mob-law practice, for the coal would be delivered.

COBBLE HILL GRANGE.

Honored Its Retiring Master, Mrs. Nellie S. Roben, Last Week.

A pleasant feature of the last meeting of Cobble Hill grange, held Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, was the presentation of a past master's pin to the master, Mrs. Nellie S. Roben, who has labored so hard for the good of the order for the past year.

The presentation was made by F. C. Bancroft, who briefly recounted the work done since Mrs. Roben took the chair in September, 1918, when Harold Bancroft resigned, so that he might enlist in the world war.

Mr. Bancroft said that all that time the tendency of the work had been upward. Mrs. Roben giving of her talents unsparingly all the time for the uplift and betterment of the grange, often at great personal discomfort and inconvenience, but still with a high ideal before her to make the grange broader and more perfect in its work.

The results show for themselves how successful her work has been, having in that time initiated over fifty candidates besides taking an active and interested part in all the work of the grange.

The only regret is that she is not to be with us longer.

As an appreciation of the work she has done it was voted to substitute in her chair until the end of the year.

The exercises were closed by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." An informal reception was held and all given a chance to wish Mr. and Mrs. Roben a pleasant winter in the sunny South.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

From Oct. 13 to 15 was hospital benefit week in Springfield and the total receipts were $800.
